Wilkinson Says Move Will Raise Standards Change Scheduled for Autumn 1960

14, No. 92 Thursday, February 19, 1959 Provo, Utah

New Section Planned for Fieldhouse

180-foot extension to the Albert Smith Fieldhouse has been approved and construction will begin in the spring, it was announced by Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, president of Brigham Young University.

In addition which will be on the west end of the house, will increase the seating area by 28,950 square feet. Completion date has been set for Dec. 15, 1959.

Add Sports Area
Wilkinson said the new addition will provide a much larger indoor area for outdoor sports. Besides serving the basketball and track teams, it also will be utilized for instructional purposes by physical education and intramural groups on campus.

The extension will be 180 feet by 161 feet wide. It will have a brick exterior finish on the rest of the building, and will be accessible to the main entrance of the Fieldhouse by a door on the north and south tracks.

Windows will be built in the protected windows which will extend the length of the building and south walls. Floors for the structure will be laid and the area will be heated and ventilated.

Will Lengthen Track
The new building will increase the utility of the entire Fieldhouse. It will provide a 140-track straightaway, thus doubling the university's track program.

American Youth Old Future, Says Sandburg

Students will be the custodians of American dream, for which have given their sweat, toil and their lives, Carl Sandburg said in a "unified" address to the Brigham Young University students at the Wednesday Forum assembly.

Speaking of the era during which he has been writing he said, "The last fifty or sixty years have been the most colorful, tragic years that the family has ever known." Students tell us we have envisioned to think the next half century will produce just as great new developments as that, he said.

In a two time Pulitzer Prize he declared the work of "Ulrich" Madison Avenue advertising executives saying that he got the public to "buy thinking."

At the Smith Fieldhouse was with students and faculty heard Sandburg read several of the poems from his Pulitzer winning book "Companions." —J.C.

Hopefuls for Associated Women Students officers, Associated Men Students officers and cheerleaders swung into their final campaigns at 6 a.m. today in seeking student votes in the Friday final elections.

"It's smart to take part in voting for the future student leaders of the school," said elections chairman Max Pitcher in urging students to exercise their privilege to vote.

Brigham Young University will change from the quarter system to the semester system, beginning September 1960, it was announced today by President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

This decision is the result of the unanimous recommendation of the Utah Conference on Higher Education composed of the faculties of all universities and colleges in the state, urging that "administrators and governing boards in Utah's institutions of higher learning give serious consideration to adopting the semester system."

Gives Change Reasons

According to President Wilkinson the decision of the BYU was motivated also by a desire to have a more realistic relationship with high schools, all of whom operate on a semester system.

With the current emphasis on advancement for the talented student, more and more of them will be graduating at mid-year. Under the new plan they may enter the BYU immediately upon graduation rather than be required to wait until the opening of spring or some later quarter.

President Wilkinson pointed out that 58 per cent of BYU students come from without the state of Utah and that in other states, notably California, there are already thousands of students graduating from that direction in Utah in the future.

The move will bring BYU in line with the great majority of universities in the nation, President Wilkinson said. He said the merit of the semester system is evident from the fact that 82 per cent of all accredited universities of the country operate on this plan.

Trustees Set Date

The 1960 date was set by the Board of Trustees because an entire year will be required for revision of the University's curriculum. All courses will have to be combined, extended or amended for the two-term system rather than the three-term system. Present juniors and seniors will not be affected.

Under the semester plan, the school year is divided into two periods from mid-September to the end of January and from the first of February to the end of May.

The system will allow an earlier start in the autumn and earlier graduation in the spring with resulting advantages to students in employment opportunities.

The quarter plan, now in use in all three universities in the state, requires late autumn registration, about October 1. Also winter and spring quarters force school into the first week of June.

"The experience of most universities has demonstrated that the semester plan is educationally superior," said Wilkinson.

'Versatile' Balladeer, Guitarist To Appear at Friday's Forum

William Clauson, Swedish-American balladeer and guitarist, will appear Friday in the Smith Fieldhouse at 10 a.m.

Born in Ohio, he was taken to Sweden by his parents at the age of two. He entered the Boras Conservatory at the age of four, the youngest pupil at that school.

Here he took up violin, voice and composition. He soon showed a love for the guitar and took it up, casting aside all the others.

He has served a tour of duty in the Army Air Corps. In 1952 he made a European tour. While there he was the only American on an otherwise all-British cast of "Wild Grows the Heather." He speaks six languages and sings in thirteen.

New sounds and songs are being added by Clauson every day to his collection. Some of the movies he appeared in were "Stars in My Crown," "Loulou," and "You Gotta Slay Happy."

He recently completed a tour of the Far East. Other countries he has traveled to are Mexico, Spain, Great Britain and the countries of Europe. Every year he appears in the Royal Festival Hall in London where his concerts are always a sellout.

ally more sound—it facilitates the achievement of better academic standards," President Wilkison said.

He explained that it provides the presentation, study and assimilation of subject matter over a longer period of time, and that longer acquaintance with a subject improves the understanding of it.

President Wilkison asserted that scholarship will be served also by the revision of the entire curriculum into more substantial courses. "The quarter system breeds the fractionalizing of subject matter," he stated.

"Because of the short period of instruction, many subjects are broken down into little specialties and the curriculum is filled with one, two, and three-hour classes which sometimes seem out of context with the overall view of the subject."

"In contrast, the semester system, because of its longer period of instruction, requires the combining of academic studies into solid courses, with broader views, more credit hours per subject, and the elimination of fringe courses."

In this regard, he pointed out that most college textbooks are written for the semester system.

The change also was prompted greatly by the simplification of administration and registration machinery which is accomplished under the semester plan. Here are some of these advantages:

1. Only two registrations instead of three, eliminating many thousands of dollars in expense.

Computing Center To Sponsor Class

A special, non-credit accelerated course in familiarization with the International Business Machines 650 Electronic Computer begins next week, according to C. Edwin Dean, director of the Computing Research Center.

The course will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. daily, Feb. 23 to March 6, in room 214 Smith Family Living Center. A laboratory fee of fifty cents will be charged to defray costs of cards and materials.

Dean said the special course is intended primarily for faculty, staff members, graduate students or others who have need for a large quantity of computation work in connection with research, theses, etc.

He said that those with peripheral interests will also be welcome.

lost time, and irritation. In many cases students need register only once for the entire year.

2. Greater ease of class schedule planning for the entire year. Because of the simplified schedule there are fewer drops and changes.

3. Better examination periods. Because of the lengthened term, examinations can be scheduled over an entire week rather than being jammed into three days as is necessary under the quarter plan.

4. Elimination of considerable lost time now devoted to "starting and stopping." The big job of registration in a university requires several days; also the testing, grading papers, and recording final grades takes several days. Obviously this labor is reduced to twice a year in the semester system, while under the quarter plan it eats up a great deal of the already limited time for instruction.

5. Illness of a student is not disastrous to his program. Under the quarter system, an absence a few days handicaps the student tremendously because of the short period of instruction. However, in the semester system he has time to catch up without further undermining his health.

6. Under a quarter system many beginning students hardly get adjusted by the time the quarter ends with the result there is a heavy dropout at the end of the first quarter. It is thought that by the end of a full semester more of these hesitating students will have made a proper academic adjustment and will remain in school.

The summer school, President Wilkison explained, can easily be adapted to a semester system. Under the present arrangement of two terms, each term will become one-third of a semester. Most one-term courses will carry two semester hours of credit, meeting as at present five times weekly for five weeks.

The fact that the semester system is standard in the great majority of American universities also presents other advantages. For example, BYU faculty members are allowed sabbatical leaves for study elsewhere, and since the BYU terms will coincide with most other universities, there will be no loss of time.

For the same reason it will facilitate the exchange of professors with other schools.

Rushes to Attend Post Game Dance

A feature of the Victory Dance Friday will be the attendance of social unit rushes at the stag dance in the Fieldhouse, announced Central Dance Committee, sponsors of the affair.

The Victory Dance will begin immediately following the BYU-U Wyoming basketball game. Stags at the Fieldhouse will dance to the music of Gary Madsen. Stan Taylor's Combo and the Y's Men will play for couples at the Social Hall and Franklin School (758 W. 3rd St.), respectively.

Admission for stags will be 40 cents and couples 75 cents.

Stone Raises Activity Head To Cabinet Rank

Chairman of the Student Participation Committee, De Hadley (BE, Ogden, UT) was named Executive Cabinet member by president Tom Stone.

The motion was unanimously approved by members of the cabinet at the Tuesday meeting. Stone said that the action was taken in view of the vital service which has been rendered by the committee to campus organizations.

In other action, cabinet members discussed terms for Inter-organization Council elections. Stone's State of the ASBYU Executive Body Address, and regular senate meeting. It was decided that the senate would convene at 8:00 p.m., March 2, and that Stone's address will be at 7 p.m. IOC members will be invited to hear the address and afterwards IOC elections will begin at 7:30.

Paul Pennell, representing the Crusade for Freedom, talked to the cabinet about a contest sponsored by Radio Free Europe. President Stone noted that since the Campus Chest Drive had already been completed that no fund drive would be conducted on campus.

Stone said later, however, that the Executive Council would probably assume some campus organization to be in charge of the contest.

Stone also mentioned at the cabinet meeting that a copy of BY and You had been sent to all new students this quarter and that a party had been held for them sponsored by the Associated Women Students and Associated Men Students.

GOOD-BY CRUEL WORLD. AMAZEment must have filled the emotions of a certain girl who read the following article clipped from a local newspaper:

Provo Sewers Plugged; Workmen Free Student from Toilet

Residents of Provo were temporarily unable to use their toilets Monday evening until workmen were able to remove the body of a BYU student who attempted to flush himself down the drain.

Herbie "Fricnd" Mendenhall, known in some areas as "Mendeezo" or "Buckface," pulled the handle at approximately 6:45 p.m. mountain standard time.

Workmen stated that Mr. Mendenhall had passed four other and seven joints before turning cross-wise of the system.

"I was only doing what my friend told me to do," Mr. Mendenhall's roommate said.

Mr. Mendenhall's roommate stated that he had thought of doing it before, but they thought he would go through with it. The roommate felt it a letter he had just received prompted the attempt. (Picture on page seven).

THE TRUE STORY, it seems that a BYU fellow actually received a "Dear John" from a girl. He took the preceding all to the Europa Reporter and asked them to print up a few copes for him. They did so and he sent example to his former lady.

Chorus to Appear In Concert Tonight

The Male Chorus of Brigham Young University under the direction of Ralph Woodward, will give a concert Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

The program will include music written from the 16th century up to present contemporary music. Tenor, John Jones (4P, Mailed, Idaho) will sing "Tina Furiva Lagrima" by Donizetti. The Y-Lo's Male Quartet's rendition to the program will be "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair" and "Dr. Foster." Wayne Mayberry (4E, Ogden, Utah), pianist for the chorus, will play two selections by Debussy.

Cougar Matmen Ready For Adams State

Brigham Young University's wrestling team anticipates a continuance of its winning ways this weekend when Adams State College invades the Cougar lair at the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse at 3 p.m. Saturday.

THE MATMEN gained a victory for the first time this season when they decimated a scrappy Utah State squad 20-13 February 14.

Ron Leckie and Bill Yancy could mean trouble for Adams State as they pinned their Aggie opponents last weekend, 270-lb. Kent Horne remains undefeated in the heavy-weight division, but carries three draws.

Allan Roe, Joe Dewey, Jerry Messery, and Maurice Whiting hold the remaining positions on the squad.

"I'M PROUD of the way the team responded last weekend when they beat Utah State," Coach Allan Davis said. "It's pretty hard to keep your spirits up when you keep losing, as we have." A squad which has shown a lack of experience in several weight divisions during the first half of the season, the BYU matmen are showing greater potential each week.

Golf, Tennis Meet

There will be a brief meeting for all prospective members of the freshmen varsity golf and tennis squads Friday. The meeting will be held in room 223 of the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse five minutes before the start of the assembly, according to Coach Owen Dixon.

Gymnastic Team to Perform at Game

Brigham Young University's recently organized gymnastics team will provide an added bit of entertainment for the audience between the freshman and varsity basketball games Friday night. The Cougars will perform seven events between 7:20 and 7:30 p.m.

Grid Coaches Through Davis, Tolbert Quit

Two members of the football coaching staff at Brigham Young University, Allan Davis and Max Tolbert, resigned Wednesday to "seek employment outside college coaching."

The resignations will become effective this spring, when their contractual obligations terminate.

Both Davis and Tolbert have considered leaving the "hazardous profession" of college coaching for some time in search of employment that offers more stability.

The staff is in the process of reorganization, and they felt this would be the most appropriate time to announce the change.

"I've enjoyed my tenure at Brigham Young University very much," said Davis. He has served as backfield and wrestling coach for the Cougars.

"My three years here have really been worthwhile."

"While I hate to leave the many friends and associates I've made at the University," he continued, "my family and I feel the time is ripe for a change."

Tolbert, who served as freshman and varsity coach in four years of service at BYU, stated "While coaching always offers plenty of challenge, and has been my first love for a number of years, I have contemplated entering the field of business for some time. Several opportunities have presented themselves, and I would like to try my hand at another profession. I feel now is the time to make this step, while my youth is still an advantage, and while the staff is being reorganized."

Both coaches held head coaching positions at Murray High School before joining the staff at BYU.

Allan Davis was appointed backfield coach for the Cougar squad in 1956. He has served as wrestling coach for the past three years.

Max Tolbert was added in 1955 by Coach Charles "Chick" Atkinson, then head coach, as his assistant. He was freshman football coach in 1951, and his teams won seven eight games in the two years following.
